Debris

LOW · 65%

Multiple small dark objects (at least 4–5 discrete spots) scattered across the flat/low-slope roof surface. While some are consistent with standard roof penetrations or vent boots, several are irregularly distributed and do not align with a typical vent pattern, indicating loose items or debris on the membrane.

Other

LOW · 85%

Roof surface is a bright light gray/white — distinctly different from every surrounding neighbor home, which all show dark gray asphalt shingles. This is consistent with a TPO, EPDM, or coated flat membrane roof, which carries its own maintenance and inspection considerations compared to a pitched shingle roof.
